Higher Farm Costs Face Agricultural Producers in 1981

LOOKING BACK AT THE GOOD OLD DAYS...

MOVING? Please use form inside paper and give full information. Mailing list is run on Friday for following week.

In the Oct. 13 issue of The Farm Paper, a letter published by USDA they had this flashback on price then and now, covering the period of 1915 to 1920. We thought it might help get your mind off some of today's prices, for a few minutes, at least. Farm land values had increased 21 percent, wages rates 17 percent in the past year alone. Farm land values, in fact, were now up 70 percent, wage rates were up 100 percent from just 5 years earlier. It may sound a bit familiar, but that report, from a USDA publication, was made to readers on last month, but 60 years ago — from the Monthly Crop Reporter of March 1920. And, if we view our "good old days" as those before gas prices moved up, the Americans of 1920 had their "good old days" as well. When things were (CONT. ON PAGE 24)

Interest Rates Again Near Record High For Second Time in Eight Months, Feed Costs, Exports, Equipment All Higher

BY TED GOULDY. Farmers and livestock producers are watching with pained expressions as the interest rates soar back to near record levels, with the prime hitting 19% this week and predictions all over the place that it will hit 20% or better in the near future. 1980 will go into the record books as one of the wildest roller coaster rides the financial community has endured ever. It was only last May that the prime hit the record 30% level. A year later, this high means the average farmer or rancher, even with impeccable credit credentials, will be forced to borrow any needed operating capital at rates well in excess of the prime, if the money is available. When the Federal Reserve hiked the discount rate to 13% recently tighter money was guaranteed and higher interest rates were sure to follow. How does this affect the 1981 prospects for farm and ranchers? It indicates that costs of operation are going to be considerably higher. Feed and fertilizer costs have been steadily advancing. The November figure on agricultural figures indicate that farmers costs of goods and services during November climbed 1.1% and stood 12% higher than at the same juncture last year. Major contributors were feed, fuel and heavy equipment. The feed index alone advanced 5.2% in November and stood 28% higher than one year earlier. This vital part of the feeding process costs some doubt as to just how much meat production may advance. No decline, during the months ahead. No relief in grain and ingredient prices appears ahead. Exports are climbing and are expected to continue upward, especially if the Soviet embargo is (CONT. ON PAGE 6)

Fed Cattle, Hog Prices Mixed, in Monday Market Trade, Receipts Down

Around the central markets on Monday the cattle receipts dipped about 8,000 under a week ago and hog receipts were down by some 17,900 head. Prices were mixed on fed cattle with rates lower at a few points, but steady to unevenly higher at most. Hogs also posted gains at most markets, however, there were a few exceptions. Fed cattle markets again had to contend with sizeable numbers of over-lone beefers in the 4 & 5 yield grade category and these are represented in the low end of the choice and prime quotations below. Most markets reported steady conditions on slaughter cows and bulls and most places had these weak to $1 lower. Monday's estimated cattle slaughter at 120,000 was a couple of thousand under last week, but 11,000 above one year ago. Hog kill was estimated at 367,000, or 24,000 under last Monday and 12,000 below last year. Price trends, quotations on choice and prime fed steers and heifers and on the mixed good and choice grades and on mixed good and choice Holstein steers and 11.8, 1.3 hog scaling mostly 200 to 270 pounds included: OMAHA fed steers 25-75c up and heifers 50c-75c higher. ALFALFA-QUALITY FORAGE AT A FRACTION OF THE COST

DOMESTICATED KOCHIA can equal or surpass alfalfa in TDN, protein and tonnage, but at a much lower seeding cost and with very little water. With the same water, DOM-KO Brand Domesticated Kochia can produce up to two-and-a-half times the forage produced by alfalfa with a protein level up to 22 percent. Stocking rates are greater than for alfalfa and there is no hazard of blight.

DOM-KO Domesticated Kochia is highly drought resistant, yet responds well to both limited and intensive irrigation and uses water most efficiently. It produces a highly palatable, leafy forage that is suitable for grazing, hay, granage or ensilage.

It can be seeded easily at low seeding rates very early in the spring. DOM-KO Domesticated Kochia is unaffected by spring frost and will establish so quickly that you'll have no problem with weed infestation. And you'll be grazing it by the time you would ordinarily be planting haygrazer.

Five years of selection and adaptation make DOM-KO Brand Domesticated Kochia a superior strain which is leafier and more palatable and which responds well to management.

Call now and order seed.

abandoned by the incoming Reagan administration.

To further aggravate the thinking of feeders is the fact that the November farm prices for most animals was down 3.7% from October, but was only 1% under 1979. Mid-November beef cattle prices averaged $59.60 per cwt., a drop of $2.20 from the October average for the entire month. Calf prices were at $1.00 to $72.90 per cwt. Hog prices, at $45.30, were down $1.90 from the month before.

The index on prices received for feed grains and hay increased 5.6% from October to 252, up 37% from a year before. All commodities except hay increased in price. Corn at $3.20 a bushel was up 21 cents, and sorghum was up 26 cents to $5.62 per cwt. Barley averaged $3.05 per bushel, up 24 cents from last month, while oats at $1.80 increased 15 cents. Hay brought $13.80 per ton, down $1 from a month before.

The index on oil-bearing crops at 304 increased 10% from the previous month and was 32% above 1979. Soybeans at $9.42 per bushel were up 71 cents and peanuts, at 25.8 cents, increased 1.6 cents per pound. Cottonseed prices averaged $133 per ton, an increase of $9, and flaxseed was 27 cents higher at $7.37 per bushel.

The mid-November index of prices paid for replacement livestock at 283 partially offset the higher feed index. The livestock index was 2.1% lower than a month ago and 2.1% lower than last year. Feeder cattle and calf prices declined $1.50 per hundredweight, while prices for other replacement livestock were slightly higher.

Recent signing of a new commodity agreement with Mexico in the six to eight million metric ton range will at least largely grain sorghum, corn, soybeans and wheat. This agreement makes Mexico a $2 billion agricultural market for the U.S., according to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

Another growing export market is China. U.S. agricultural exports to China this year were to the neighborhood of $2 billion, double last year's total. Predictions of a $4 billion in China by the mid-1980s are predicted.

Tighter supplies of feed grains are being predicted by the trade and actual shortages may develop before the 1981 crops are made.

Texas Farm Bureau Re-Elects Officers, Lists Policy Aims

and state policies and national recommendations for 1981 were adopted at the group's 47th annual meeting which opened here Dec. 8.

Carol Chaloupka, Doherty, was elected to his seventh one-year term by voting delegates who also re-elected the following state directors for a two year term: S. M. True, Jr., Plainview; Joe Flaker, McKinney; Vester Smith, Loop; Calvo Rueter, Clinton; J. R. Day, Odessa; and George White, Harwood.

After the convention adjourned, S. M. True, Jr., Plainview, so vice president; and Donald Hohert, Waller, as secretary.

The 1980 delegates, representing 20,000 member families, listed four objectives they want in any new program enacted after 1981 when the provisions of the present farm bill expire.

These requirements include maintaining or increasing crop target price levels (and adjusted annually to reflect production cost increases), holding loan rates remain at 75 percent of the target price, no cross-compliance, and determining set-aside acreage by formula based on supply and projected demand.

In other national policy action, the delegates in an obviously conservative vote, voted against disaster loan program and the emergency livestock program. They were for the present crop disaster loan program, but voted against continuing it indefinitely.

On state policies, delegates said "TFF" support a reapportionment plan in the coming Legislature which would maintain the strength of the established and House districts, while approving Senate seats on some basis as strictly population.

They also supported the right of initiative and referendum on certain issues.

Adopted resolutions on state matters now state policy for next year. Approved resolutions dealing with no call laws are recommendations to the American Farm Bureau Federation and meeting which will be held Jan. 12 in New Orleans.

On state matters, delegates adopted resolutions that:

- Said voters should be able to read and write English, and furnish proof of U.S. citizenship. They also wanted this printed in English.
- Would prohibit non-alien residents from owning land in Texas, and limit alien ownership to owning 49 percent of the land.
- Wanted alcohol fuel exempted from alcohol tax.
- Favored county sales tax.
- Opposed unionization of public employees.
- Favored using foreign labor in local labor shortages are not available.

The delegates approved recommendations for national policies that:

- Would exclude playn hokes and snakes in definition of navigable waters with determining authority over navigable waters resting with Corps of Engineers.
- Oppose embargo of farm products when there is a total embargo on all exports.
- Would exempt farmers from farm labor contractor Registration Act.

Red Angus Herdbook Revisions Made in National Convention

Dallas — More than 200 members at the 217th Annual Convention of the Red Angus Association of America here Oct. 9-11 updated the association's by-laws to guarantee separate herd books for the 100% Red Angus referred to as Category I-A; the I-B herdbook for 87% through 99% Red Angus; and Category II herdbook for 0% to 87%.

Red Angus, thus preventing the association to "open" its herdbook. Individual state associations will decide whether to show Category I-B cattle in the same class with Category I-A entries. Matching funds will not be withheld from state organizations electing to show the two categories together.

Red Angus To Show in San Antonio, Houston

The Texas Red Angus Association will again support the San Antonio and Houston stockshows in 1981, according to Clifford Halffmann of Rowena. Their support and participation will go to the San Antonio Junior Steer Show on Feb. 14, and the Junior Heifer Show on Feb. 15; and the Red Angus steer show at Houston March 5, and the Red Angus Heifer Show on March 7.

bulls on official performance test started Nov. 7, at the Luling Foundation, Luling, Texas.

The Red Angus are among 104 bulls representing 14 breeds in the test. Consignors of the Red Angus bulls are: Owen Kelle, Joe; Triple R Ranch, Garland; Walker Bros., Eagle Lake; Hugh D. Sheridon, Houston; Bobby Nabours, Temple; Clark McKelvey, Justin; Harrooy Hill Farm, Navasota; and Joe Morgan, Webster.

E. H. and L. L. Walker Find Red Angus Easy to Handle

Eagle Lake, Texas — E. H. and L. L. Walker are brothers who are in the Red Angus breeding business and in Eagle Market, a grocery store and meat processing and marketing business here.

"They were raised in a commercial cattle producing family, but switched to registered Red Angus in 1977, and now keep a herd of 60 to 80 producing cows. They went to Columbia to look at and possibly buy about five heifers, and a bull from Nick Mainer, but they liked Mainer's Red Angus so well that they invited him to "call us if you ever decide to sell the herd."

In a few days, Mainer did call to say that he had decided to sell his herd, so the Walkers got into the Red Angus business with a herd established and developed by one of the original Red Angus breeders and a director of Texas Red Angus Association. With a start of some of the top cows of the breed representing most of the top Red Angus bloodlines, the Walkers have continued to upgrade. One result has been their show dog success. One of their bulls, NM Umpire 318, a bull out of a double-bred "373" daughter, won his class in his first showing. At the recent National Red Angus show at the Texas State Fair, they had a heifer that took fourth in her class, and bulls that placed first and fourth in their classes.

National Western Red Angus Plans Announced

Denton, Texas — Plans are being finalized for the National Red Angus show to be held "on the hill" in Denver, during the National Western Stock Show. Judging date for the show will be Saturday, Jan. 17, 1981, starting at 8 in the Stadium Arena. Following the show of breeding cattle "on the hill," will be the National Red Angus Sale of selected "Something Special" cattle at 8 in the Beef Palace Arena.

President Roy Beehy, Marshall, Okla., urged Red Angus breeders to get their entries into the national office as early as possible. Deadline for entries will be Dec. 1, 1980. Breeders wishing information on entering cattle in the National Sale, are reminded to contact Jim Leachman, Leachman Cattle Company, 3185 Sycamore, Billings, Mont. 59102, sale manager, for the "Something Special" sale. Breeders interested in showing and selling pens of these bulls are urged to contact Doug Andersen, Panhandle Cattle Co., Lakeland, Nabr. 86351, Show and Sale Manager for the activities "down in the pen."

President Beehy also stated that the hope for the National Red Angus show will be Dr. Bill Abel, Kansas State University, Manhattan. There will be a "cocktail" get-together and dinner in the National Western Club, following the sale on Saturday, Jan. 17, 1981, at 6 p.m.

The Walkers have a son for sale at Elgin Breeding Service, Elgin, Texas, as the Umpire 318 bull, and on Chuc-taw 219, a son of 6201, out of a double-bred Redbel cow that weighs 1,550 pounds. They also have young bulls and heifers for sale at the ranch.

E. H. does most of the looking after the showing of the cattle, and his brother looks after the business in town.

E. H. says he handles the cattle in the pens and works the herd by himself, with only occasional temporary help, or when the service of a veterinarian is necessary.

"It's a pleasure working and running these cattle because of their gentle disposition," he said.

He added that gentleness is a contributing factor to the Walker's almost 100 percent calf crops, and he believes the higher percentage calf crops linked with the good milk production of the cows enables them to wean and market many more pounds of beef than would be possible with most other breeds of cattle.
